The finality of the Office action dated August 19, 2005 is withdrawn so that new rejections can be made.

Claims 10 and 16-18 are presented for examination.

Applicants' amendment filed December 16, 2005 has been received and entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 10 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for specific bacteria such as Proteus vulgaris, Escherichia coli, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, Bacillus subtilis, Staphylococcus aureus; specific fungi such as Candida albicans, Aspergillus niger, Trychophton; and specific viruses such as Herpes virus #1, and Papilloma virus, does not reasonably provide enablement for all types of bacteria such as Gram-negative and Gram-positives; all types of fungi; and all types of viruses. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

In this regard, the application disclosure and claims have been compared per factors indicated in the decision In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 (Fed. Cir., 1988) as to undue experimentation.

The factors include:

Art Unit: 1614

- 1) the quantity of experimentation necessary
- 2) the amount of direction or guidance provided
- 3) the presence or absence of working examples
- 4) the nature of the invention
- 5) the state of the art
- 6) the relative skill of those in the art
- 7) the predictability of the art and
- 8) the breadth of the claims

The instant specification fails to provide guidance that would allow the skilled artisan background sufficient to practice that instant invention without resorting to undue experimentation in view of further discussion below.

The nature of the invention, state of the prior art, relative skill of those in the art and the predictability of the art

The claimed invention relates to a method of treating bacteria, fungi, and/or viruses on the surface of, or within, the layers of the dermis of skin, ears, fingernails, toenails, or hoofs of mammalian species, comprising: applying to said surface or layers, a pharmaceutical substance including an effective amount of pirfenidone.

The relative skill of those in the art is generally that of a Ph.D. or M.D.

The present invention is unpredictable unless experimentation is shown for the treatment of all types of bacteria, fungi and viruses with the administration of pirfenidone

The breadth of the claims

The claims are very broad and inclusive to all types of bacteria, fungi and/or viruses.

The amount of direction or guidance provided and the presence or absence of working examples

The working examples are limited to the administration of pirfenidone to treat bacterial infections caused by Proteus vulgaris, Escherichia coli, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, Bacillus subtilis, Staphylococcus aureus; fungi infections caused by specific fungi such as Candida albicans, Aspergillus niger, Trychophton; and viral infections caused by specific viruses such as Herpes virus #1, and Papilloma virus.

No examples showing the active ingredient, pirfenidone, were effective against all types of bacteria, fungi and/or viruses.

The quantity of experimentation necessary

Applicants have failed to provide guidance as to how the other types of bacteria such as Gram-negative and Gram-positive; other types of fungi; and other types of viruses were treated with the administration of pirfenidone. Therefore, undue experimentation would be required to practice the invention as it is claimed in its current scope.

Claims 10 and 16-18 are not allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 10 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 10, the phrase "including" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

The remaining claims 16-18 are rendered indefinite to the extent that they incorporate the above terminology.

Claims 10 and 16-18 are not allowed.

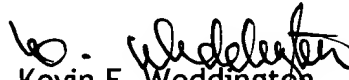

To overcome this rejection, the applicants may would to amend claim 10, line 4, by deleting the word "including" and insert with word -containing--.
